From an email:

"...was riding with a group near the Two Top area and remotely triggered this slide as rode past this drainage on the top of the ridge. It was a north facing wind loaded slope in the 38 degree slope range. It broke about 12 inches deep and looked like it was from the last snow/wind loading." Photo: J. Norlander

Advisory Region
Lionhead Range

Avalanche Details: Snowmobiler triggred slide near Two Top
Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Thu Jan 24, 2019
Lionhead Range, 2019-01-23