On 2/9/20 We saw deep avalanche crowns on the west side of the Bridger Range in almost every drainage from Saddle Peak to Ross Peak. These broke at various times throughout the recent storm that deposited 4 feet of snow with over 4" of SWE in the last week. Photo: S. Cottom

Advisory Region
Bridger Range
Longitude
-110.93W

Latitude
45.81N
Avalanche Details: Truman Gulch Natural Deep Slabs
Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Mon Feb 10, 2020
Bridger Range, 2020-02-09